

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

DISTINGUISHED SCHOLARSHIP AND ELOQUENCE.

P R E F A C E.

A KNOWLEDGE of the Greek language has of late years been rendered of comparatively easy acquisition, by the publication of Greek Lexicons in which the words are not, as formerly, explained in the Latin language, but in English. That the old mode should have been so long retained in our schools and colleges, seems now a matter of great astonishment, as it was signally ill adapted to convey distinct ideas of the spirit or idiomatical delicacies of this most perfect and polished language. As soon as this fact became generally known and properly appreciated, strenuous and very successful exertions were made to remove the objections to the old plan. Lexicons have been published, of great merit, which very considerably diminish the difficulties, and illustrate the beauties of the language.

In producing this Wordbook, the chief objects aimed at were to give to the world a cheap condensed work, comprising, as far as practicable, a combination of the advantages enjoyed at present by the use of several Lexicons. No one similar production contains Greek-English, English-Greek, and Proper Names, with the quantity of the doubtful vowels marked. Besides these advantages, very great attention has been paid to the etymology of the language, and numerous derivations have been given from the Hebrew, a kindred but more ancient language, which have not hitherto found their way into Greek Lexicons. In Part I. the interpretation, etymology, and quantity have been given of more than 50,000 words. Part II. has been separated from Part I., with the view of its being carefully read over by itself, as it contains the most, if not the whole, of the difficulties arising from inflexion and dialectic variation which occur in authors usually read by junior students. Part III. was, in its first outline, simply a translation of the Latino-Græcum portion of Schrevelius, but it has been greatly enlarged by the addition of many thousand words. Part IV. is not intended to encroach on the province of the Classical Dictionary; it contains chiefly the proper names which occur in the classic poets, with an explanation of such particulars as are requisite to understand the allusions made to them: its value, however, is enhanced by the introduction into each paragraph of the adjectives and patronymics derived from these proper names. Besides consulting the Lexicons already published, the compiler has had recourse to Indices of the authors explained, and to Critical and Philosophical Dissertations, which have materially aided him in ascertaining the existence and meaning of many doubtful words. Several expedients have been resorted to, both of a technical and typographical nature, to compress the matter within a small compass; one of these was the frequent insertion of adverbs at the end of the adjectives from which they are formed, instead of arranging them as separate paragraphs, which would have swelled the volume considerably. The plan of the Introduction, it is hoped, will prove of great service in acquiring a more complete knowledge of the language than could be obtained by the Lexicon alone, though its merits are not rated so high as was done by Philippus Cattierus, who published a volume on the same subject, in 1651, which, as well as Matthiae's Grammar, has been consulted in this compilation. The title of his work stands thus; "Gazophylacium Græcorum; seu Methodus Admirabilis, secundum quam, intra horæ spatium, possit quis addiscere memoriter innumera vocabula Græca derivata; idque ita ut nunquam eorum obliviscatur, si modo hanc methodum apprime calleat." The compiler has much pleasure in drawing attention to the beauty, distinctness, and accuracy of the typography, which are highly creditable to the printer.

GLASGOW,
2nd March 1835.

INTRODUCTION.

A SLIGHT observation of the Greek, as well as other ancient languages, will show us that most words are formed of two parts that are easily separable; one the element or root, the other a suffix or part appended. The root is that element which has a general meaning, the suffix is that which modifies the meaning of the element to which it is attached, itself having probably once been an integral and significative element. An example will make this intelligible. The Greek element which signi-fies to make or do, is ποι; and from it we have, with the addition of suffixes, afterwards explained, ποι-έω, I make or do, ποι-ήμα, what has been made or done, ποι-ησις, the act of making, ποι-ησις, poet, ποι-ητής, maker, doer, ποι-ητός, capable of, or skilled in doing, ποι-ήτρια, poetess.

The most common form of a root is that of two consonants with a vowel or vowels between them; as, λαυ, to grieve, σπειρ, to sow. The consonants are properly the frame-work of the word, and the vowels connected with them admit of many various forms; belonging to the root σπειρ, to sow, we have σπείρα, a sowing, σπείρατος, sowing, σπείραμα, seed, belonging to δώ, to give, we have δώρον, a gift, δότης, a giver.

There is perhaps no principle more powerful in the formation of language than the constant desire of making sounds agreeable both to the organs in pronouncing, and the ear in learning. This has caused many alterations in the consonants of the roots, by the juxtaposition of the consonants of the suffixes or terminations. A few of these may be enumerated. When two or more consonants meet, those only which belong to one class are put together. Hence an aspirated consonant is joined to an aspirate, a lene to a lene, a middle to a middle; if also two dissimilar consonants come together, the first assumes the properties of the second. So from (γ)ἔγγασ-ται, comes (Ἔγγασ-θη, from (γ)ἔγγασ-ται, (ἰ)ῆφ-θη. In ἐπὶ and ἐντὸς, if instead of the lene τ the middle δ is put, π and σ are changed into the middle consonants β and γ in ἔβρομος, ἔγδοος. The following changes also take place; β, π, φ before σ into ψ; γ, κ, χ before σ into ξ except ἄν. The changes which σ undergoes are explained under that letter in the Lexicon. Before μ the labials β, μ, π, φ, ψ are changed into μ; as, (λί)λαυμ-μας, for (λί)λαυπ-μας; κ, χ into γ; as, (λί)λαγ-μαι, for (λί)λαχ-μαι, (δέ)δογ-μαι, for (δέ)δοκ-μας; the lingual letters δ, θ, τ, ζ into σ; except, ἀκμή, ἐσχμή, ἰδμων, κακοροθμένος, πέτμος. The following letters are rejected: δ, θ, τ, ζ before σ; as, πέλοσι, πέδοι, πασί; πλήθω, πλήθωα, πλήθωσ; σ before ζ, σ in declension and in the preposition ἐόν; as, μήτρος, μήτροσι, μησί; σούζω, for σούζω; ἀγασθενής, for ἀγασθενής. Sometimes also between two consonants which cannot be pronounced without difficulty, other softening consonants are inserted. This takes place before λ and ρ, to which, after μ, β is prefixed; as, μοσημ(β)ρία, from μέσος and ἡμέρα, γαμ(β)ρός, from γαμέω; after ν on the other hand a δ; as, ἀνδρός, from ἀνθήρ. B and δ stand in the place of σ which is lost in the rapid pronunciation; μοσημαρία, γαμέρος, ἀνδρός. Sometimes also μ is inserted in composition, without a vowel having been omitted; as, ἐμ(μ)βροτος, φασσ(μ)βροτος, ἔμβρομος, for ἐβροτος, φασσβροτος, ἔβρομος. P in the beginning of a word is doubled whenever it is preceded by a vowel, in composition or declension; as, ἐπλήθη, ἐπλήθητος, both from πέω; other letters are also introduced into words for the same purpose; as γ in τυγχάνω, where τυχ is the root, and ν in λαοθάσω where λαθ or ληθ is the root. In the following Lexicon these inserted letters are generally inclosed in parentheses, thus, λα(ν)θάσω, τυ(γ)χάνω.

It frequently happens, when we form a word from a root with its suffix, that part of that suffix is used as the root of another secondary class of words; as, ἀν-μή, from ἀνή, becomes the root of ἀνα-μίτος, ἀνα-μίξω; βῆ-ρα, from βου-ς, becomes the root of βῆ-ρα-μα, βῆ-ρα-σις, by subjoining their respective suffixes.

In the composition of words, sometimes it happens that no letter is between the two words compounded; as, σαρ-σαρμῆ, I exercise the body; but it more generally occurs with a vowel or syllable between them, which may be reckoned the euphonic cement, and they are frequently formed from the genitive of the second and third declension by the omission of the final letter; as, σῶμα, a body, σώματος, σαρμαν-φάλαξ, a body-guard, λίθος, a stone, λίθου, λιθο-τόμος, λιθο-εργός, contr. λιθ-εργός, a stone cutter. For euphonical reasons the short vowel in the antepenult is frequently lengthened in a word where there are many short vowels; as, λαμπαδ(η)φόρος, δεσπ(η)τερ(η)φόρος, πολυλόγιστος, τριλόγος, δ(ι)πλομος. The letter σ is frequently inserted for similar reasons; as, φερί(σ)θις, life-producing, φερε(σ)σθαιης, shield-bearing.

Verbs are frequently found in the present with a reduplication or repetition of the word, which was originally intended to render the term more emphatic. The more ancient any language is, the more numerous appear the traces of such repetition, and next to the Hebrew, they form a remarkable feature in the Greek tongue. Thus βᾶω, βᾶω, I walk, walk, blended into one word, become βιβᾶω, I stride. In the course of time this emphatic meaning was lost, and very few of these verbs at present have any other meaning than the simple form.

When the roots of a few words are well understood, the pupil easily recognises them in other examples, and being acquainted with the modifying nature of the suffixes and prefixes, he assigns a meaning to new words without the trouble of consulting a Lexicon. In this way it is not necessary to learn every word separately, if a pupil knows the tests by which a word is to be tried, he ascertains, without the aid of books, the general meaning of the word, and the exact limits of attainable knowledge on the subject.

The verb in Greek contains a very great number of suffixes, and upon these a few words may be said. We acquire ideas of action by reflecting on ourselves, or observing others, in certain circumstances; and the most natural way of expressing these ideas, is to combine the name of the person or thing which acts with the person or thing acted upon. Thus εἶσορ and εἶδη joined and abbreviated is εἶδα. and this term would be sufficient to express I make wine, intoxicate, though it originally meant only wine I. The terminations, then, -ω, -αις, -ει, -ερον, -ερον, -στα, -εστα, were probably at first the personal pronouns, and from these, with the changes they underwent, have proceeded all the variations of mood, tense, number, person, and voice. In the Arabic the ordinal of two is tan. Hence the dual -τω or -την. The personal terminations in the plural are probably formed from the singular; as, -ομαι, by analogy of the third declension, is -ομαι, which is used in the Doric, the most ancient dialect of Greece. The 1 sing. in Hebrew is יָנַח, ani. Hence the personal terminations -ω or -ων. The 3 pl. -ουσι or -ουσαν is the Persian [וְשִׁיחַ, אִיסוּחַ. Hence we read ἡλθουσι in verbs in -ω, and εἰθουσι in verbs in -μαι; but -ουσι is contracted in the common tongue into -σι; as, εἰθουσι, ἔθουσι. The passive is probably formed by combining the subject of discourse with the pronoun in the dative; as, οἴκετός, house for me, οἴκετός, house for thee, οἴκετός, house for him. These combinations came to convey the idea, I have a house, or I am housed, which is the reason why the passive form in all authors has either an active or passive signification ascertainable only by the context.

We will now take an element, and exhibit a few of the existing words into whose composition it enters. The one chosen is very prolific, as it comprises upwards of two hundred words connected with it; but there are very many roots, which, upon investigation, would show an equal number of derivatives.

Βο, the root of Βους an ox, in all its variety of significations.

1. Οξ. Βο is the sound emitted by the animal, and from it is derived the name Βοῦς. The same root is observable in βό-αις, [see iii. 7.] of or from an ox, βο-ῆ, [iii. 8.] oxhide, βο-ῆος, [ii. 20.] young heifer, βο-ῆος, [iii. 11.] coming from an ox. And the compounds, βο-ῆος, slaying oxen, from ἔρω, βο-ῆος, with the horns of an ox, from κέρως, βο-ῆος, offering of oxen, from βῶω, [ii. 6.] βο-ῆος, cowherd, from κῆνος, βο-ῆος, herdman, from φέρω, βο-ῆος, ox or full-eyed, from εἶψ, βο-ῆος, ox-proved, horned, from κέρως.

2. The sound uttered by an ox or cow is louder than that of any other domestic animal; βο thus comes to signify a loud noise or shout; as, βο-ῆ, a shout, uproar, war-cry, and consequently battle, βο-ῆος, [i. 10.] I shout, celebrate, βῆ-ηος, [ii. 1.] cry, shout; and the compounds ἀμφι-βῆ-ηος, [ii. 29.] re-echoing, celebrated, from ἀμφι, βο-ῆος, I run to the war-cry, run with shouting, from βῶω, βο-ῆος, [iii. 11.] auxiliary, efficacious, from same, βο-βο-ῆος, [iii. 29.] past relief, from same and ἔρω.

3. In early times the tending of cattle was an important occupation, and their flesh the principal nutriment of men. Hence βο came to signify food, whether with reference to oxen or men; as, βο-ῆος, [i. 4.] I feed, and assuming βοω as a new root, βῶωμα, [ii. 1.] stick; βο-ῆος, βο-ῆος, [ii. 8, 7.]

herding, βο-νις, [ii. 7.] shepherdess, βο-ρά, [fem. of βο-ρῆς, iii. 9.] food of animals properly. βο- of the last word now becomes a new root, and from it are derived, by transposing the two last letters, βο-εις, [ii. 5.] eating, food, βοδ-ειμος, [iii. 13.] eatable, βοδ-μα, [ii. 1.] food, (βο)βρδ-σσω, I feed, by reduplication and with termination -σσω, [i. 4.]

4. The ox was the largest of domestic animals;

hence it came to signify large or great. In the form βο it is very frequently found combined with adjectives, and is classed among the adverbial particles; as, βο-γάτος, boasting greatly, from γαίω. βο-λιμία, insatiable hunger, from λιμός, βο-βρωσις, [ii. 5.] voracious appetite, from the signification of βοσις given in the preceding paragraph.

PREFIXES.

The following adverbial particles are prefixed to words, chiefly adjectives, to modify, increase, or diminish their significations.

α- is used in four different senses, which perhaps were originally indicated by the tone of the speaker. 1st. In a privative or negative sense; as, ἀ-χαρις, unthankful, from a prefixed to χάρις, thanks; ἀ-φθότος, incorruptible, from a prefixed to φθότος, corruptible. 2nd. In an augmentive or intensive sense; as, ἀ-ξύλος, very woody, from a prefixed to ξύλον, wood; ἀ-τενής, full stretched, from a prefixed to τείνω, I stretch. 3d. In a collective sense; as, ἀ-δελφός, one of the same womb, brother, from a prefixed to ἀελφός, the womb. 4th. In a redundant or euphonic sense; as, ἀ-οταχτής, an ear of corn, same as ἑτάχτης.

ἀμ- increases the signification of the word to which it is prefixed; as, ἀμύλος, manifest, ἀμύθηλος, very manifest.

ἀν- is used in a negative sense; as, ἀν-βασις, that does not go, immovable, from βα- prefixed to βαίνω, I go.

βου- increases the signification; as, βο-γάτος, boasting immoderately, from βο- prefixed to γαίω, I vaunt. It is probably derived from βοῦς, an ox.

βρ- increases the signification; as, βρ-ήφους, shouting loudly, from βρ- prefixed to ήφω, I shout.

βο- increases the signification; as, βο-φονος, very bloody, from βο- prefixed to φόνος, slaughter.

δυσ- is used in a bad sense, signifying hardship, difficulty, or pain; as, δυσ-έγωγος, difficult to be led, from δυσ- prefixed to ἄγω, I lead, δυσ-τυχής, unfortunate, from τυχῶ, fortune.

εὐ- is opposed to the last, and is always used in a good sense, as denoting kindness, pleasure, or facility; as, εὐ-άλωτος, easy to be taken, from εὐ- prefixed to ἀλλίσσω.

επι- increases the signification; as, επι-βαλός, very cloudy, επι-βλήτωρ, big-bellied, from επι- prefixed to βάλλω, a clod, and γαστήρ, a belly.

εὐ- increases the signification; as, εὐ-πυρρος, very fiery, εὐ-θερής, very warm, from εὐ- prefixed to ἔψω, fire, and θερῶν, I warm.

λα- increases the signification; as, λά-μαχος, very valiant, from λα- prefixed to μάχη, battle.

λα- increases the signification; as, λα-λαίωμα, I desire earnestly, from λα- prefixed to λάω, I desire. Perhaps this form does not occur at all, as this example, which seems the only one in which it is found, would be better explained by supposing λα- to be the reduplication of λάω, used emphatically.

οὐ-, οὐ-, are always used in a privative or negative sense; as, οὐ-πίσις, an ignorant, from οὐ- or οὐ- prefixed to πω, I speak.

In the following Lexicon, the majority of the words will be found with letters and syllables marked off as terminations, which are not connected with the following list. These it would have been very difficult to have given, without creating great confusion, as they are portions of terminations previously added to the root, and which are left for euphonical considerations; as, ἀκακοσύνη; in this case ἀκ is the root and -ακοσύνη the termination; but ακ is not found before all nouns ending in -οσύνη; it is not therefore, in the following list, supposed to be a portion of the termination, but inserted because ἀκα-ακ- seems to have been first formed, and from it the ακ was retained in the derivative. The same may be said of a great variety of other words which are not formed immediately from the root or element, but from a secondary root; and in all such cases the student must be regulated by practice.

In the following list of terminations, many are omitted which seem to have no distinct meaning from the remainder of their class. No notice is taken of the conjunction, preposition, and interjection, as they are few in number, and are all sufficiently explained in the Lexicon. The regular form of the verb is supposed to have no letter but -α, signifying I, after the root, the others are supposed irregular. The irregular form, however, is probably the more ancient, as in it we find a nearer approximation to the word which, as a significative element, must have been originally used along with the root.

TERMINATIONS. I.—VERBS.

ὄντω, is the termination of frequentatives; as, ἕκν-ὄντω, I sleep often, λιμ-ὄντω, I am often hungry, ὄνειρ-ὄντω, I dream frequently 1
 -ίδω, is also the termination of frequentatives; as, ἀχρ-ίδω, I turn often pale, ἰρυθρ-ίδω, I blush often, κελυστ-ίδω, I am always ordering; it also signifies desire; as, φον-ίδω, I long for murder, μαθητ-ίδω, I long to learn. This termination is used only in the present and imperfect tenses. 2
 -οίω, signifies desire; as, ὄρα-οίω, I desire to do, ἰλα-οίω, I desire to ride, meditate an invoad, γαμη-οίω, I desire to wed, πολεμη-οίω, I long for war, δω-οίω, I desire to give. Verbs of this class may be derived from the first future by inserting ω before the final -ω; as, ἰλάω, f. ἰλάω-ω, ἰλασ-εί-ω; ὄρω, f. ὄρω-ω, ὄρασ-εί-ω. 3
 -σκω, signifies beginning or increase; as, γηρ-σκω, I begin to grow old, γυναιδ-σκω, I begin to have a beard. When derived from neuter verbs they have often a transitive sense; as, πινύω, I am intelligent, πινύ-σκω, I make intelligible, explain; πίνω, I drink, πινί-σκω, I give to drink. This termination is only used in the present and imperfect tenses: the other tenses, when they are found, are derived from verbs ending in -ω; as, μεθύ-σκω, has f. μεθύσκω, from μεθύω. 4
 -ίζω, -ίδω, sometimes signify simple action inherent in the agent; as, φροντ-ίζω, I take care, σφαίρ-ίζω, I play at ball; sometimes they signify transitive action, or I make or render; as, γνωρ-ίζω, I make known, καθαρ-ίζω, I render pure, ξανθ-ίζω, I make yellow; sometimes they have a neuter signification; as, σαλαγ-ίζω, I shine, καθ-ίζω, I sit: but their most general signification is imitation; as, ἀλιγν-ίζω, I imitate the Egyptians, cheat, δωρ-ιάω, I imitate the Dorians, ἀρχα-ίζω, I imitate the ancients, ἀττικ-ίζω, I imitate the Athenians, κακαθ-ίζω, I cry like a partridge, ἀλωπεκ-ίζω, I act like the fox, deceive. 5
 -ύω, signifies transitive action, or I make or render; as, κρα-ύω, I make or render tame, ἡθ-ύω, I render noet, noeten, βαθ-ύω, I render deep, deepen, βραδ-ύω, I render slow, retard, ἰθ-ύω, I render straight, rectify, ἀμθλ-ύω, I render blunt. 6
 We have already remarked that -ω, after the root of the word is the most common form in which regular verbs now appear; but there are a great number of words in which letters and syllables are to be found which have either been introduced for euphonical considerations, or, which is more probable, are the remains of the old affixes which have not yet been so completely polished down, as to correspond with what is now called the regular forms of the verbs. These letters and syllables are generally found in verbs which are called Irregular, and which are frequently used in the present and imperfect tenses only. Such other tenses as remain are supplied from similar forms proceeding from one supposed more simple, or even from verbs entirely different but agreeing in signification. We will now enumerate a few classes of these terminations, though they are introduced more with the view of making the reader acquainted with their form than their signification.

ν is frequently found inserted before the termination -ω; as, τίμνω, I bite, κάμνω, I labour, δάμνω, I bite, πίνω, I drink, ὀύνω, I sink, ἀμαρτάνω, I err, αὐξάνω, I increase, κίχάνω, I find, which ν is only to be found in these verbs in the present and imperfect tenses while many of the other tenses seem derived from another form which does not now exist; as, τίμνω, κάμνω, δάμνω, πίνω, ὀύνω, ἀμαρτάνω, αὐξάνω, κίχάνω. 7
τ is also inserted before the termination -ω; as, τόντω, I strike, βλάπτω, I injure, κλέπτω, I steal, τίτω, I bring forth, ἀνέντω, I accomplish, ἀρέντω, I draw, from the forms τόντω, βλάβω, κλέπω, τίτω, ἀνέντω, ἀρέντω. 8
γ, κ, χ, are often changed in σσ before -ω; as, κρέσσω, φρίσσω from κρέγω, φρίγω. 9
α, ε, ο, υ, or ου, are found inserted before -ω; as, μνάω, I roar, from μνάω, φιλέω, I love, from φιλέω, ἰλάω, I draw, πληθύνω, I fill, from ἰλκω, πληθύνω; περσύνω, I spread, δεικνύω, I show, from δείκω, δείκω. 10
 These terminations are again made long; as ἀείνω, -αίνω; as, β-αίνω, I go, ἰλ-αίνω, I drive, from βείω, ἰλέω. 11
 -αίνω, τ-αίνω, I stretch, κτ-αίνω, I kill, from τάω, κτάω. 12
 -ίζω, as, παλά-ίζω, I approach, from παλάω. 13
 -άθω, -ίθω, -ύθω; as, ὀμα-άθω, I ruminate, ἀγρο-έθω, I gather, φθοι-έθω, I decay, from ὀμαίω, ἀγροίω, φθίω. 14
 -άθω, is the termination of verbs whose penultims is long; -ίθω, of those in which it is short. From the contraction -ίθω with α and σ comes -ήθω. with ο -όθω; ας, γήθω, I spin, κλήθω, I fill, βράθω, I feed, from γέω, κλέω, βρέω, 15 άω, -έω, -ίω, -ύω, are very frequently changed into -άουμαι, -έουμαι, -ίουμαι, -ύουμαι; ας, σκεδά-ουμαι, I scatter, σβίνουμαι, I extinguish, τίνουμαι, I value, ζώνουμαι, I gird, from σκεδάω, σβίω, τίνω, ζώνω. 16

Sometimes new forms of present tenses arise from a tense of the first form; but such new tenses occur chiefly in the poets.

II.—SUBSTANTIVES.

Many substantives, in the alterations their roots undergo, seem to follow the same analogy as particular parts of the verb, and are therefore said to be derived from them: a very great proportion of these are deduced from the perfect indicative passive, first, second, and third person. From the first, nouns in

-μα; ας, ποιήμα from (τε)ποίημαι, πράγμα from (εἶ)πράγματι, τέξενμα from (τε)τέξωμαι. It signifies what has been made or done; ας, ποιήμα, what has been made, work, poem, πράγμα, what has been done, deed, act, τέξενμα, what has been shot, arrows shot, σπᾶσμα, what has been drawn, spasm. Sometimes θ is inserted before the termination; ας, ἰσθμα, asthma from ἰσθ, ἰσθμα, a pace, from ἴσμι. 1
 -μός; ας, ἴλασμός from ἴλασμαι, σπασμός from (ἴ)σπασμαι, ποιμασμός from (τε)ποιήσασμαι, δεσμός from (δέ)δεμαι. It generally signifies what has been made or done, or the act of doing or making; ας, ἴλασμός, reconciling or reconciliation, σπασμός, the act of drawing, or what has been drawn, ποιμασμός, act of trying, δεσμός, what has been bound, bond. Sometimes θ, or χ, or τ, is introduced before the termination; ας, ὄρχασθός, dancing, from ὄρχεσθαι, αὐχμός, drought, from αὐω, ὄψω, without breath, from ὄψω, ἀτμός. 2

-μων; ας, ἡγέμων from ἡγήμαι. It signifies a workman or agent endowed with power; ας, ἡγέμων, a leader. This termination is more generally used with a large class of adjectives in the same signification; ας, ἀτάμων, having a good memory, ἀτάμων, having learning or experience. Sometimes θ is inserted before the termination, and then it has the same signification as nouns in -ων, [17.]; ας, αἰσθητόν, lurking place, αἰσθητόν, place of moaning. 3

-μη; ας, ἀντήμη from (ἀν)μήμαι, ἄσμη from (ἄ)σμαι, ἄσμη from (ἄ)σμαι, σχισμή from (σχί)σμαι. It has the same signification as -μός; ας, ἀντήμη, remembering, what is remembered, ἄσμη, what is bound, bundle, σχισμή, splitting, clef. Sometimes θ or τ is inserted before the termination; ας, σπᾶσθω, a plum-bline, from ἴσθημι, εἰσθω, εἰσθω, εἰσθω, from εἰσμαι, ἀτμή, breath, from αὐω, ἀτμή, σπᾶσθω, from ἰσθω, though another derivation is given for this last word in the Lexicon. 4

From the second person singular are derived nouns in -σις; ας, ποιήσις from (τε)ποίησαι, πράξις from (εἶ)πράξαι, προήσις from (πρό)προσαι, κελύσις from (κε)κλύσαι, παύσις from (πέ)παύσαι, κἀθασίς from (κα)κἀθασαι, σχίσις from (ἴ)σχίσαι. It signifies the act of; ας, ποιήσις the act of making, πράξις, [πράσις] doing, προήσις, the act of striking, κελύσις, the act of ordering, παύσις, the act of ending, κἀθασίς, the act of purifying, σχίσις, the act of splitting. Throughout the Lexicon, all the words terminating in -σις with ξ before it, belong to this class; ας ξ when resolved is κσ, γσ, χσ: the same remark applies to the next termination. 5
 -σία; ας, θυσία, the act of sacrificing, εὖπραξία, doing well. 6

From third person singular are derived nouns in -της; ας, ποιήτης from (τε)ποίηται, σέβωτης from (ἴ)σεβωται, ἀλείωτης from ἄλειωται, κλέωτης from (κῆ)κλεωται, πλάωτης from (πέ)πλαωται, κριτής from (κρί)κριται. It signifies an agent or maker; ας, ποιήτης, a maker, poet, σέβωτης, a mocker, ἀλείωτης, an anointer, κλέωτης, a thief, πλάωτης, a modeler, sculptor, κριτής, a judge. When the feminine gender of this class is indicated by a peculiar termination, it is either -τις, -τρια, or -ρίς; ας, δεσπότης, a master, δεσπότης, a mistress, πόλιτις, a citizen, πόλιτις, a female citizen, ποιήτις, a poet, ποιήτρια, a poetess, κιθαριστις, a harper, κιθαριστρια, a female harper, ὄρχαστις, a dancer, ὄρχαστρις, a female dancer, ἀλλήτις, a flute player, ἀλλήτρις, a female flute player. The feminines in -τρια are sometimes, but rarely, formed from masculines in -της; as, πενθή-της, a mourner, πενθή-της, a female mourner. 7

 -τής; as, ὄρακ-τής from (ὄ)ρασκ-ται, ὄρακ-τής from (ὄ)ρασκ-ται, ὄκ-τής from ὄκ-ται, ὄβωκ-τής from ὄβωσκ-ται, φολακ-τής from (ω)φύλασκ-ται. It signifies, like the last, an agent or maker; as, ὄρακ-τής, a nourisher, ὄρακ-τής, a performer, ὄκ-τής a beholder, ὄβωκ-τής, an extinguisher, φολακ-τής, a watchman. When the feminine gender is indicated by a peculiar termination, it is -ταιρα; as, σω-τήρα, a preserver, ὄ-ταιρα, a female preserver, ὄ-τήρα, a benefactor, ὄ-ταιρα, a benefactress. See last. 8
 τω; as, σημάν-τω from (σ)σήμαν-ται, λέ-τω from (λέ)λυ-ται, ὀδ-τω from (ὀ)δάω-ται, φέ-τω from (π)φύω-ται, ἀφή-τω from (εί)αφή-ται. It signifies, also, an agent or maker; as, σημάν-τω, a commander, λέ-τω, a deliverer, ὄ-τω, a giver, φέ-τω, a generator, ἀφή-τω, a summoner. When the feminine gender is indicated by a peculiar termination, it is, -ταιρα; as, παραδάμ-ταιρα, she who subdues all, παραδάμ-ταιρα, she who subdues all. 9
 -τρον; as, λίε-τρον from (λί)λασκ-ται, κλήκ-τρον from (κί)κλήσκ-ται, νίκ-τρον from (νί)νικ-ται, δάκ-τρον from (τά)δακ-ται, λού-τρον from (λό)λου-ται. It signifies generally a thing or instrument; as, λίε-τρον, a couch, κλήκ-τρον, instrument to strike with, νίκ-τρον, water to wash with, θάκ-τρον, a charm, λού-τρον, a bath. This termination is probably a contraction of the neuter of -τήριος among the adjectives [19.] 10
 -τρος; is probably a contraction of -τήριος [iii.19.] with the signification of a substantive; as, ία-τρος, a physician, ἀλι-τρος, a dinner. 11
 -τήριος is also derived from the per. pas., and is the neuter of the adjective -τήριος used substantively. Besides the signification given [iii.19.] it seems to apply to a place; as, φουλακ-τήριον, a guardhouse, ὀσσημα-τήριον, a prison. 12
 From the perfect middle also many words are derived which exhibit nothing peculiar but the alteration which the root undergoes: there is one class, however, in
 -εύς, which signify an agent or actor; as, φθορ-εύς, a destroyer, from φθίρω, φορ-εύς, a homicide, from φίνω, νομ-εύς, a shepherd, from νόμος, γορ-εύς, a parent, from γίνομαι, τομ-εύς, a cutler, from τέμνω, κοκ-εύς, a carver, from κόπτω. When the feminine gender is indicated by a peculiar termination, it is, -εια, -ισσα; as, ἱερ-εῖα, a priest, ἱερ-εῖα, a priestess, βασιλ-εῖα, a king, βασιλ-εῖα, βασιλ-εῖα, βασιλ-εῖα, a queen. 13
 -ειον and sometimes -ιον, and -αιον, signify a place or instrument; as, ταμ-ειον, a magazine or treasury, ἰχθυοπωλ-ειον, a fishmarket, κωπηλ-ειον, a huckster's shop, γραφ-ειον, a stylus, engraving tool, διδασκάλ-ειον, school. Ἡρ-αιον, the temple of Juno, Ἰου-αιον, the temple of Minerva. 14

 -δης, has generally an abstract signification, corresponding with the English termination -ness; as, σεμν-δης, venerableness, φαυλ-δης, baseness, γυμν-δης, nakedness, λοξ-δης, obliquity. Many nouns with this termination, derived from other nouns, have the same signification as the verbal -της; as, τοξο-της, an archer. 15
 -ούνη, -ουνη, have also an abstract signification; as, δικαιο-ούνη, justice, γηθ-ούνη, gladness, μεθου-ούνη, remissness, εὐθου-ούνη, neatness in arrangement, ἀγαθ-ούνη, goodness, ἀγρω-ούνη, holiness. It is the feminine of -δουνη, which has generally an active signification; as, πί-ουνη, confiding in, υπερ-δουνη, affectionately attending, ἀπυλ-δουνη, sleeping or lodging apart. 16
 -ον, generally signifies a place; as, κωμ-ον, a dunghill, ἀγραιο-ον, a field, pasture ground, λυα-ον, a place where willows grow, σφο-ον, hogsty, καυ-ον, empty place, γυναικ-ον, women's apartment, αρω-ον, place where lilies grow, ἀρνιο-ον, aviary, hen-coop. See l. 3. 17
 -ιτης generally signifies made of or in, or like; as, σχοκ-ιτης, made of or like figs, μηλ-ιτης, made of apple juice, αιματ-ιτης, like blood, κλιβατ-ιτης, made in a furnace. 18
 The neuter gender singular of all classes of adjectives, with the neuter of the article prefixed is used substantively; as, τὸ τραχὺ for τραχύτης, roughness. Sometimes the article is omitted; as, φιλέτιμον for φιλετιμία, ambition. The article, when prefixed to the infinitive, is used as a noun in every case; as, τὸ φρονεῖν, wisdom, τοῦ φρονεῖν, of wisdom, ἐν τῷ φρονεῖν, in wisdom. 19
 Besides the common substantives there are some which change their form, and hence receive a new meaning. Of this nature are,
 1, Diminutives, 2, Amplificatives, 3, Patronymics.
 I.—DIMINUTIVES.
 Diminutives all express an absolute diminishing or lessening of the primitive, and are frequently used as terms of endearment; as,
 -ισκος, fem. -ισκη, as, νεαν-ισκος, a young man, from νεανίας, ἀδρωτ-ισκος, a maspikin, from ἀδρωτος, μαρπακ-ισκος, a young man, μαρπακ-ισκη, a young woman, from μαρπαξ, πικραδ-ισκος, a small board, from πικραξ, σκαλ-ισκη, a small shade or parasol, from σκιά, καθ-ισκη, a young or little girl, from κατῆ. 19
 -ειον, -ιδιον; as, γῆ-ιδιον, small tract, little farm, from γῆ ἀργυρο-ιδιον, little silver, from ἀργυρος, οἰκ-ιδιον, a small house, from οἶκος, νησ-ιδιον, a small island, from νῆσος, καρπ-ιδιον, dear little father, from καρτή. 20

- ων; ας, θύρ-ιον, small door or window, from θύρα, δένδρον, a small tree, from δένδρον, ὄρνιθ-ιον, a little bird, from ὄρνις, ἀσθράκ-ιον, a little man, μαστικία, from ἐσθρακίος. 21
- ος; ας, θυρ-ίς, a small door or window, from θύρα, ἀλωπεκ-ίς, a small fox, from ἀλώπηξ, πίνακ-ίς, small writing table, from πίναξ, μακαρ-ίς, a small cart, from μακάρα, μαχαρά-ίς, small αστρον, from μάχαρα, ἀφρον-ίς, a little nightingale, from ἀφρον, λιθ-ός, a little stone, from λίθος. 22
- ἔλιον; ας, λαμπ-ἔλιον, a small lamp, from λαμπάς, στιβ-ἔλιον, a little couch, from στιβάς, πρω-ἔλιον, a piece of flesh, from πρώς, λιβ-ἔλιον, a meadow, from λιβός. 23
- αιος; ας, γύν-αιος, little woman, from γυνή. 24
- ἄριον; ας, ἀσθρακ-ἄριον, little man, shabby fellow, from ἐσθρακίος, δο-ἄριον, small ass, from δοῦς, παιδ-ἔλιον, little boy, from παῖς, ἰπκ-ἄριον, a foal, little sorry horse, from ἵπκος, ἀντ-ἄριον, little man, from ἀντή, κυν-ἄριον, little dog, from κύων, ψυχ-ἄριον, little soul, from ψυχή. 25
- ἄλλιον; ας, μυσοκ-ἄλλιον, a young boy, from μῦθος, εἰδ-ἄλλιον, short poem descriptive of pastoral scenes and manners, from εἶδος, ξεν-ἄλλιον, a paltry guest, from ξένος, πρ-ἄλλιον, a little verse or word, from πρῶς. 26
- ἔριον; ας, σπην-ἔριον, a small tent, from σπηνή, κωμ-ἔριον, a small village, from κώμη, νησ-ἔριον, a little island, from νήσος, μολ-ἔριον, a small poem, from μίλος, χορ-ἔριον, a small hand, from χέρη. 27
- ολος; this form was originally Doric though it occurs also in other dialects; ας, ἔρω-ῶλος, dear love, from ἔρως, μικρ-ῶλος, very small, from μικρός, Dor. for μακρός. 28
- οίτης; ας, πελαγ-οίτης, a young stork, from πελαγός, λυκ-οίτης, a wolf's whelp, from λύκος, δοτ-οίτης, a young eagle, from δοτός, υ-οίτης, a grandson, from οἶός. It is chiefly applied to the names of the young of animals. 29
- Diminutives, in form, have frequently the same signification as the words from which they are derived; ας, ἱμα-ῖον, same as εἶμα, πείμ-ον, same as πείρος.

2.—AMPLIFICATIVES.

Amplificatives, by a peculiar termination, show that the sense of the primitive is in a very high degree as the property or quality of the person or thing.

- ων; ας, γάστρ-ων, a big-bellied person, γλutton, from γάστρον, χαιλ-ων, blubber-lipped, from χαῖλος, θρόσ-ων, a bully, from θρόσων. 30
- ῶ; ας, λιθ-ῶξ, large stone, from λίθος, βῶλ-ῶξ, a large clod, from βῶλος, λαίμ-ῶξ, large meadow, from λαίμων. 31

3.—PATRONYMICS.

Patronymics signify a son, daughter, or descendant, and are derived from the proper names of one or other of the parents. The seven following paragraphs contain the masculine terminations, and the two last the feminine.

- ἄδης, is derived from nouns in -ης and -ος of the first declension; ας, from Ἴππόδης, Hippotes, comes Ἴπποτ-ἄδης, son of Hippotes, from Βούττης, Βουτ-ἄδης, and from Ἀλοῦτος, Ἄλου-ἄδης. 32
- ἄδης, is used by the Æolian in nouns derived from -ος; ας, from Ἐχέρος, comes Ἐχέ-ἄδης. 33
- ων, is a form peculiar to the Ionians; ας, from Κρόνος, comes Κρον-ῖων. It is derived from nouns in -ος of the second declension. 34
- ίδης, is also derived from nouns in -ος of the second declension; ας, from Κρόνος, comes Κρον-ίδης, from Κέρος, Κεφ-ίδης, from Τάρταλος, Ταρταλ-ίδης, from Ἄτατος, Ἀλατ-ίδης. 35
- αἰδης, comes from nouns in -ος; ας, from Ἑλλιος, comes Ἑλ-αἰδης, from Ἄγχιος, Ἄγχι-αἰδης, from Ἀσάλφτος, Ἀσάλφτ-αἰδης. So also Παερ-αἰδης, from Παέρτιος for Παέρτης. 36

In nouns of the third declension the genitive serves as the basis of the derivative. If the penultima of the genitive be short, the patronymic from -ος is formed in -ίδης; ας, Ἀγαμέμνον-ίδης, Αἰσων-ίδης, Θεσπερ-ίδης, Δητρ-ίδης, from Ἀγαμέμνων, -ωνος, Αἰσων, -ωνος, Θεσπερ, -ορος, Δητῶν, -ῶος. If the penultima be long, in -αἰδης; Ἀμφιτροπυ-αἰδης, Τελαμων-αἰδης, from Ἀμφιτροπύων, -ωνος, Τελαμώνων, -ωνος. Hence from nouns in -εός, which in Ionic have the genitive in -ῆος, the patronymics are formed in -ῆαἰδης; ας, Πηλεῦς, -ῆος, Πηλ-ῆαἰδης, Περσέων, -ῆος, Παρ-ῆαἰδης, Νηλεῦς, -ῆος, Νηλ-ῆαἰδης. But since these have also the termination -ῖων in the genitive, there arose Παρ-ῖων, Περ-ῖων, Παρ-ῖδης, Περ-ῖδης. So also Ἀτρ-αἰδης, Ἡρακλ-αἰδης. This form occurs sometimes also in derivatives from nouns of the first declension. The forms -ίδης, -ιονίδης, and -ωναἰδης, are often interchanged. Instead of the form -αἰδης, the form -ίδης also is used, particularly in Attic. 37

-ῖος, is a Doric form; ας, Ἐπικου-ῖος. 38

-ίς, are terminations of the female sex; ας, Δητω-ίς and Δητω-τίς; Ἐρση-τίς, Νηρη-τίς, from the genitives Ἐρσηῆος, Νηρηῆος, from Ἐρσηούς, Νηρηούς; Ἀραλτίς, from Ἀραλτίος, -τίος. 39

-ίτη, -αἰτη, -αἰτη, are also feminine terminations. The two last are used when the primitive has i or e before the termination -ος or -ων; ας, Ἀκρίσ-αἰτη, Ἀκρίσ-αἰτη, Ἡερ-αἰτη, Ἡερ-αἰτη, Ἡλευτρ-αἰτη, Ἡλευτρ-αἰτη; the first, when the primitive has a consonant before the termination -ος; ας, Ἀδρηστ-αἰτη, Ἀδρηστ-αἰτη, Νηρ-αἰτη, Νηρ-αἰτη, Ἰλαστ-αἰτη, Ἰλαστ-αἰτη. 40

III.—ADJECTIVES.

- αῖος, generally signifies the place from which any thing or person is, and to which any thing or person belongs; as, Ἀθην-αῖος, belonging to Athens, Athenian, πηγ-αῖος, of or from a fountain, ἀγελ-αῖος, of or from the herd. When this termination is annexed to words signifying number or time, it expresses, "On what day?" or, "At what time?" as, τριτ-αῖος, on the third day, τεταρτ-αῖος, on the fourth day, ὄγδο-αῖος, on the eighth day, ἑσπ-αῖος, in the dark. 1
- άλεος, mostly expresses fulness; as, θαρ-άλεος, full of courage, κερδ-άλεος, full of cunning. 2
- ήεις, signifies fulness; as, πετρ-ήεις, full of rocks, ποι-ήεις, full of grass, ἰσθμ-ήεις, full of trees. See next. 3
- έαις, signifies fulness; as, ἀνιμ-έαις, full of wind, ἡμαθ-έαις, full of sand. This and the preceding termination are originally the same; the one is derived from nouns which have -οο or -οις in the genitive, the other from those which have -ης of the first declension. 4
- ανός, generally signifies the possession of the quality expressed by the root; as, πιδ-ανός, possessed of persuasion or influence, περικεδ-ανός, possessed of bitterness. 5
- αινος, -ιμος, signify the material of which any thing is made; as κλιθ-αιμος, made of brick, ξύλ-αιμος, made of wood, λά-ιμος, made of stone: they also signify a quality arising from the magnitude or quantity of the thing expressed by the root; as, ὄρ-αιμός, mountainous, σκοτ-αιμός, dark; they are also used in connexion with adverbs or adjectives of time; as, χθεσ-ιμός, of yesterday, ἄκαρ-ιμός, of or during autumn. They are originally the same, being formed from the genitives of the nouns; as ξύλ-ιμός, ὄρ-ιμός. 6
- ειος, commonly signifies origin or source; as, θήρ-ειος, of or from a wild beast, ἵππ-ειος, of or from a horse, βό-ειος, of or from cattle; it also signifies likeness; as, ἀνθρ-ειός, like a man, manly. By the Ionians -ήϊος is used instead of -ειος; as, ἀνθρωπ-ήϊος for ἀνθρώπ-ειος. 7
- κος, con. -οος, mostly signifies the material; as, χρυσο-οος -οῦς, of gold, ἀργύρ-οος -οῦς, of silver. The feminines of this class of adjectives are used substantively, and signify the skin or hide taken from the animal expressed by the root; as, λεων-ίη -ῆ, παρθαλ-ίη -ῆ, κυν-ίη -ῆ, λυκ-ίη -ῆ, ἀλεων-ίη -ῆ, the hide or skin of a lion, panther, dog, wolf, fox. It sometimes means likeness; as, χιόν-οος, like snow, φλόγ-οος, like fire. 8
- αρός, -ρός, -ηρός, -ερός, -ρός, express chiefly quality; as, μι-αρός, impure, δολ-αρός, crafty, αἱματ-ηρός, bloody, ισχ-ηρός, strong, μιν-αρός, small. Some express a propensity; as, ειν-ηρός, addicted to wine. Many of them have an active signification; as, ἀνι-αρός, causing sorrow, μουνηful, ποσ-ερός, causing sickness, un-ηρός, unhealthy, μοχθ-ηρός, causing trouble, troublesome, βιάλ-ηρός, causing disgust, ελατ-ρός, causing pity. 9
- ηλός, -αλός, signify propensity to or fitness for; as, ἀκατ-ηλός, prone to deceit, deceitful, ἀεχυντ-ηλός, prone to shame, bashful, ειωπ-ηλός, prone to silence, ἀμαρτ-αλός, prone to sin, ψευδ-αλός, prone to lie, φειδ-αλός, prone to penurioseness. 10
- ιός, this termination seems to be composed of the obs. verb εἶμι, I am like, and consequently its primary signification was, like or becoming; as, ἀνθρ-ιός, like or becoming a man, φιλ-ιμός, like or becoming a friend; it also signifies, belonging or relating to any thing; as, σωματ-ιός, relating to the body, corporeal, ψυχ-ιός, relating to the soul, spiritual; also, fitted for or skilled in; as, ἡγεμον-ιός, fitted for command, γραφ-ιός, fitted for or skilled in writing, πολιτ-ιός, skilled in civil affairs, ῥητορ-ιός, skilled in oratory, ποιητ-ιός, skilled in composing or poetry; and, coming from any thing; as, πατρ-ιός, coming from a father, hereditary, βο-ιός, coming from an ox. 11
- ιμος, expresses chiefly fitness, active and passive; as, πλώ-ιμος, navigable, πέρ-ιμος, drinkable, μάχ-ιμος, fit for war, warlike, ἰσθμ-ιμος, eatable; it sometimes expresses merely a quality; as, ἄλ-ιμος, saline, κίνθ-ιμος, mountainful, δέω-ιμος, celebrated. From this form a new one is derived by the poets in -άλιμος, of the same signification; as, ποσ-άλιμος, same as πτόλιμος, illustrious. See next. 12
- σιμος, expresses also fitness, active and passive; ἀρό-σιμος, arable, βρώ-σιμος, eatable, φέκ-ιμος, putting to flight, ἀλά-σιμος, that may be taken, of capture. This termination is said to be used in adjectives derived from verbs, and the preceding one in those derived from nouns: and it may generally be translated in Latin by the terminations -bilis and -andus. 13
- οος, expresses chiefly a quality; as, θαλάσσο-οος, marine, ἀείμ-οος, windy. It sometimes expresses ability or skill; as, ἔρα-οος, able to avvert, λόγ-οος, skilled in reasoning. 14

-δλης, fem. -αλις, signifies fitted for, causing, or addicted to; as, μαρ-αλης, fem. μαρ-αλις, addicted to madness, causing madness συμπαρ-αλης, addicted to or fitted for glibing, φασα-αλις, causing light, splendidly appearing. 15

-αίδης, -αειδής, -ώδης, these are different forms of αἶδος, like, and their primary signification is resemblance or similitude; as, λο-αίδης, like the violet, dark-colored, θεο-αίδης, like a deity, σφρα-αίδης, warrior-like, φλεγ-αίδης, like fire, ἀνδρ-αίδης, manly; they also very generally signify fullness; as, βουρ-αειδής, full of hills, mountainous, γαστρ-αίδης, big-bellied, θρησ-αίδης, full of wild beasts, λχθου-αειδής, abounding in fish, κωστρ-αίδης, full of stones, rocky. 16

-αἴος, -φῆς, -αἴος, signify an origin; as, ἡ-αἴος, of the morning, κωστρ-φῆς, springing from the father, μητρ-φῆς, springing from the mother. 17
-ήσιος, signifies fitness; as, ἀρω-ήσιος, fit for ploughing, βιω-ήσιος, fit for living, vital, λιστ-ήσιος, fit for or used by suppliants, νεω-ήσιος, fitted for youth, juvenile. When connected with numerals, it signifies duration or iteration; as, ἐνεν-ήσιος, yearly, during the whole year, δεκα-ήσιος, annual, lasting the whole year. 18

-τήσιος, signifies ability or active power; as, ἀλεξή-τήσιος, able to defend, πεισ-τήσιος, able to persuade, persuasive, κωνω-τήσιος, able to calm or allay, λυ-τήσιος, able to loose, σω-τήσιος, able to save, saving. 19

-πλῆσιος, -πλήσιος, can be composed of an old verb πλέω or πλέω, to fold, as in Latin plex, and signify fold; as, ἑ-πλῆσιος, simplex, without a fold, single, δι-πλῆσιος, duplex, twofold, double, τρι-πλῆσιος, triplex, threefold, treble, τετρα-πλῆσιος, quadruplex, fourfold, quadruple. 20

-πλάσιος, -πλασίον, signify proportion; as, δι-πλάσιος, δι-πλασίον, twice as much, τρι-πλάσιος, τρι-πλασίον, thrice as much, τετρα-πλάσιος, τετρα-πλασίον, four times as much. This termination is either derived, like the last, from πλέω, I fold, or stands for πλήσιος, equal, side by side; as, ἑ-πλάσιος, twice equal. 21

-φάσιος, signifies fold; as, δι-φάσιος, twofold, double, τρι-φάσιος, threefold, treble. 22

-κοντα, is the termination for ten in the cardinal numbers; as, τριά-κοντα, thirty, τεσσαρά-κοντα, forty, πενή-κοντα, fifty, ἑξή-κοντα, sixty, ἑβδομή-κοντα, seventy, ὀγδοή-κοντα, eighty, ἑνενή-κοντα, ninety. 23

-αἰαίος, is the termination for hundred, in the cardinal numbers; as, ἑκα-αἰαίος, two hundred, τρια-αἰαίος, three hundred. 24

-κοστής, is the termination for ten, in the ordinal numbers, from twenty to a hundred; as, τρια-κοστής, thirtieth, τεσσαρα-κοστής, fortieth, πενή-κοστής, fiftieth, ἑξή-κοστής, sixtieth, ἑβδομη-κοστής, seventieth, ὀγδοή-κοστής, eightieth, ἑνενή-κοστής, ninetieth. 25

-κοσιούτος, is the termination for hundred, in the ordinal numbers; as, ἑκα-κοσιούτος, two hundredth, τρια-κοσιούτος, three hundredth, τετρα-κοσιούτος, four hundredth, πεντα-κοσιούτος, five hundredth, ἕξα-κοσιούτος, six hundredth, ἑπτα-κοσιούτος, seven hundredth, ὀγδοη-κοσιούτος, eight hundredth, ἑννεα-κοσιούτος, nine hundredth. 26

-ταρος, -έταρος, -ίταρος, -ίσταρος, -αίταρος, -ίωρ, are the various terminations of the comparative degree, and consequently signify more or -er; as, φέρ-ταρος, better, stronger, δειν-έταρος, more dreadful, σοφ-έταρος, wiser, χαρι-έταρος, more graceful, λαλ-ίταρος, more talkative, ἰσ-αίταρος, more equal, βαθ-ίωρ, deeper. 27

-τάτος, -έτατος, -ίτατος, -ίστατος, -αίτατος, -ίωτος, are the various terminations of the superlative degree, and consequently signify most or -est; as, φέρ-τατος, best, strongest, δειν-έτατος, most dreadful, σοφ-έτατος, wisest, χαρι-έτατος, most graceful, λαλ-ίστατος, most talkative, ἰσ-αίτατος, most equal, βαθ-ίωτος, deepest. 28

-τός, -στός, words with these terminations partake more of the signification of verbs than other adjectives derived from them, and they are therefore called, by way of distinction, verbals. They are said to be formed from 3 sin. p. pas. by omitting the reduplication and changing -ται into -τός; as, (β)βλη-ται, θλη-τός, (κα)ποίη-ται, ποιη-τός, (τί)θλα-σαι, θλα-στός, (κί)χρη-ται, from χέ-ω, χη-τός. But verbals from verbs pure have frequently σ before the final syllable, although it was not in the perfect; as, (λ)ήλα-ται, λα-στός, (κί)χρη-ται from χρά-μαι, χη-στός; and, on the other hand, σ is frequently omitted in the verbal where it occurs in the perfect; as, ἀδάμα-τος, ἀγα-τός, for ἀδάμα-στος, ἀγα-στός. Verbals, also, have often σ before the final syllable, although the perf. had η; as, (ή)ρη-ται, ειρη-τός. ἀνίσχη-ται, ἀνοσχη-τός. These verbals have the accent on the termination, except in some of the compounds. They have commonly a passive signification, and in that case correspond with the per. par. pas. in Latin; as, ποιη-τός, factus, made, χυ-τός, aggestus, heaped up, στειν-τός, secus, turned, twisted; or they convey the idea of ability, as in the Latin adjectives in -bilis; as, ειρη-τός, eligibilis, preferable, ἱρα-τός, vinibilis, visible, ἀνη-τός, venalis, that can be sold. They have sometimes an active signification; as, καλυπ-τός, covering, μαμπ-τός, blaming, μιση-τός, causing hatred. They are sometimes used instead of the next class of verbals; as, βη-τός, dicendus, φωνυ-τός, sugiendus. -Της is also the termination of the ordinal numbers, from one to twenty; as, πρώ-τος, first, τρίτος, third, τέταρτος, fourth ἑκατος, lenth; except ἑβδόμενος, second, ἑβδόμος, seventh. ὀγδοός, eighth; and the two latter are found in their regular form in Homer; as, ἑβδόματος, Od. α', 81. ὀγδοάτος, Od. α', 306. Hes. 'Ἐργ. 790.

-τός, is another termination of verbal adjectives, formed by the same rules as the last, and subject to the same exceptions in its formation; in signification it corresponds with -andus and -endus, the terminations of the Latin fut. par. pas.; as, ποιη-τός, faciendus, to be done, φιλη-τός, amandus, to be loved. The neut. -τόν, in Attic, more generally pl. -τά, corresponds to what is called the gerund; as, ἀραστ-τόν δοτι, faciendum est, must be done, πο-τία δοτι, bendum est, must be drunk. The Latin gerund in -di is expressed in Greek by the genitive of the article and present of the infinitive; as, πο-τι-ποιε-ν, faciendi; and the gerund in -do, by the dative of the article and present of the infinitive; as, δο-τι-ποιε-ν, dicendo; the gerund in -dum, of the accusative by the preposition α or προς, the accusative of the article, and the infinitive; as, προς το λεγειν, ad dicendum; and it is also expressed by the infinitive simply without the article; as, ἀλίγοι εἰσιν ἀμύναται, for εἰς ο προς το ἀμύναται, or ἔστι ἀμύναται. 30

IV.—ADVERBS.

-ως. This is the most general form in which adverbs of quality appear, and it is said to be derived from the genitive plural of the corresponding adjective or participle, by changing ν into ς: as from κακῶν, g. pl. of κακός, bad, comes, κακῶς, badly, from ἀξίων, g. pl. of ἄξιος, sharpt. comes ἄξίως, sharply; from ἰσχυρότων, g. pl. of participle ἰσχυρός, comes ἰσχυρότως, strongly; from λαληθῶτων, g. pl. of participle λαληθῶς, comes λαληθῶτως, secretly. It may be generally translated by the English termination -ly added to the signification of the adjective or participle from which it is formed. In the Greek language nearly 2000 words are found with this termination. 1

-άκις, denotes number, and is equivalent to our English word times; as, πολλάκις, many times, ὅσάκις, how many times, ὅσῳ, how great; πεντάκις, five times, from πέντε, five. The final letter of this termination is frequently omitted by the poets; as, πολλά-άκι, πεντα-άκι. 2

-ῶν more rarely -άων, and -ῶν, express comparison or distribution, and correspond with the Latin termination -atim; as, ἀγέλι-ῶν, gregatim, in flocks, ἀδύ-ῶν, in troops, σπερ-ῶν, in heaps, σπερ-ῶν, in clusters, κυν-ῶν, like a dog. It is derived from substantives and changes the terminations -α, -η, -ον, of the nom. or the gen. of third decl. into -ῶν. 3

-ῶν, signifies manner or resemblance, and is derived from substantives or verbs; as, κρυπ-ῶν, in a concealed manner, secretly; βιά-ῶν, in a going manner, gradually. When derived from substantives the termination is generally -ῶν; as, σπερ-ῶν, σπερ-ῶν; ἀμβολ-ῶν, ἀμβολ-

-ῶν. In several instances the termination -ῶν is used instead of -άκις; as, ἀριστ-ῶν, according to excellence. 4

-ῶν, a class similar to preceding, and signifying kinds of games; as, δοτρεα-ῶν, as in the game of shells. 5

-ει, -ι, -τι, signifies manner; as, καμψή-ει, unanimously, πανόμ-ει or πανόμ-ι, with the whole population, ἀμαχ-τι, peaceably, δάκρυ-τι, tearlessly, ἀκοι-τι, easily. This form was probably the dative used adverbially. 6

-ῶν, -ῶν, is generally applied to the peculiarity of a nation, and signifies after the manner of like; as, Ἑλλη-ῶν, after the manner of the Greeks, Ῥωμα-ῶν, after the manner of the Romans. It has, however, frequently no reference to a nation; as, ἀνὸ-ῶν, after the manner of men, τετραποδ-ῶν, like quadrupeds. 7

-ως, is the termination of the adverbs which are formed from prepositions, and which signify motion towards; as, ἔν-ως, upwards, εἰς-ως, inwards, ἔξ-ως, outwards, κέρ-ως, downwards; πρό-ως, forwards, from ἀνὰ, εἰς, ἔξ, κατὰ, πρὸ. The words εφ-ως, suddenly, and οὕ-ως, thus, have this termination, but they also occur with a final α before a vowel. 8

Adverbs of place have a threefold relation according as they refer to a state of rest in a place, motion to a place, or removal from a place, in answer to the questions: where? whither? whence? and each of these relations has a particular termination; as, 1st, where? -ἔ, -ως, -χῶν, -χῶν, -ῶν, -η, -ος, -α; 2nd, whither? -ἔ, -ε, -ε; 3rd, whence? -θεν. These are chiefly composed of the ancient or more modern genitives or datives of adjectives used adverbially; as,

- θ, signifying in; as, ἀγρό-θι, in the country, ἄλλο-θι, in another place, elsewhere, οὐδαμ-θι, nowhere. Nouns with this termination sometimes stand as genitives; as, Ἰλιό-θι τῆς, we may therefore suppose that this was an original form of the genitive, which in aftertimes was used adverbially. 9
- α, signifying at or in, and chiefly used in the names of cities; as, Ἀθήν-α, at or in Athens, Θήβ-α, at Thebes, θύρ-α, at the doors, without. This was originally the Ionic dative plural, but it was afterwards considered merely as an adverbial termination, and used in other dialects. 10
- α ὅ, signifying in; as, παντα-χοῦ, in every place, everywhere, ἄλλα-χοῦ, elsewhere, ἑνια-χοῦ, in various places. This is evidently the genitive of an obsolete nominative. 11
- η, signifying in; as, παντα-χῆ, everywhere, ἄλλα-χῆ, elsewhere, ἑνια-χῆ, somewhere. This is the dative feminine of the above obsolete noun used adverbially. 12
- οῦ, signifying in; as, οἴ, where, ἀπ-οῦ, there, π-οῦ, where, ἐφ-οῦ, aloft, οὐδαμ-οῦ, nowhere, τῆλ-οῦ, far off. These are all genitives. 13
- η, signifying in; as, τῆ, there, ἴ, where, καί-η, there, ἄλλ-η, in another place, οὐδαμ-ῆ, nowhere. These are datives feminine. Instead of this form the Dorians and Æolians use -α, which appears to have arisen from the old mode of writing the dative singular feminine; as, ἀπ-α, -απ-α, τῆ-αί. 14
- οῖ, signifying in or at; as, πανταχ-οῖ, everywhere, οἴ-α, at home. This is the dative according to the old mode of writing it, with the short vowel and the σ adscribed not subscribed. 15
- αι, signifying in or on; as, χαμ-αι, on the ground. This is the old dative of an obsolete noun. 16
- ε, signifies to a place, and corresponds with the English termination -ward. It is generally annexed to the accusative case without alteration; as, οἰκον-ε, homeward, κελιον-ε, to the field, πόλεμου-ε, to the war, ἀγορῶν-ε, Ion. ἀγορῶν ε, to the assembly, ἑσπ-ε, to, or into the city, φῶτος-ε, into the light, to life. It is also added to a genitive, where ἴδιον is understood; as, Ἄϊων-ε, to the house or habitation of Pluto. And it is sometimes used double by Homer, being added, not only to a noun, but also to a pronoun possessive accompanying it; as, ἑ-εῖς ἰδιον-ε, to his home. If σ precedes the -ε, as frequently happens when the noun is in the plural, instead of σ is used τ , as Ἀθήν-α, to Athens, Θήβ-α, to Thebes, θύρ-α, to the doors, without, instead of Ἀθήνας-ε, Ἰθάκας-ε, ὑπ-αο-ε. In the Doric dialect -ες and -εις are used instead of -ε; as, οἰκον-ες, homeward, χαμῶν-εις, on the ground. Adverbs in -α, which is another pronunciation of -ε, have σ or ω before the termination; as, ἐπ-έω, upward, τῆλ-έω, to a distance, παν-έω, everywhere, ἀπ-επί-ω, to either side, ἐπί-ω, everywhere; except, αἰ-έω, ἀπ-έω, there, thither. 17

-θεν, signifies from a place; as, οὐραν-θεν, from heaven, Σαῖρο-θεν, from Scyros, Μυκην-θεν, from Mycenæ, Διό-θεν, from Jupiter. In the Ionic dialect the poets omit the final letter, on account of the metre; as, ἑσπ-οι, from wi hout. This termination appears to have been originally a genitive form, as it is found after prepositions which govern that case; as, ἐξ ἁλ-θεν, from the sea, ἐξ οὐραν-θεν, from heaven, instead of ἐξ ἁλ-ος, ἐξ οὐραν-ος. 18

-τίω, -τάτω, the comparative and superlative of adverbs in -α; and prepositions which are compared in the sense of adverbs; as, ἔν-α, upward, ἀνω-τίω, higher, farther up, ἀνω-τάτω, highest, furthest, κάτω-α, downward, κατω-τίω, lower, κατω-τάτω, lowest, ἀπ-ε, far off, ἀπο-τίω, ἀπο-τίω, farther, ἀπο-τάτω, ἀπο-τάτω, farthest. This form is limited by some other adverbs; as, ἐγγύς, near, ἐγγυ-τίω, nearer, ἐγγυ-τάτω, nearest. 19

-ι, is annexed to several demonstrative adverbs, serving to impart more force to the meaning, and to point distinctly to the circumstance designated; as, οὖν, now, οὖν-ι, at this identical moment, ἔσθω, here, ἐσθω-ι, here at this very place, οὕτως, thus, οὕτως-ι, in this very manner, ἔνθεν, hence, ἔνθεν-ι, on this very account. In all instances where -ι is added, it is invariably long and accented, and shortens the preceding vowel or diphthong. 20

The neuter gender of all classes of adjectives, both in the singular and plural, and in all degrees of comparison, with or without the article, is very frequently used adverbially; as, ἄρδ, quickly, ἀδέκτων, unexpectedly, πρώτων, in the first place, principally, Σηχιστα, very near, πολλῶ, πολλῶ, much, τὸ πολλῶ, τὰ πολλῶ, for the most part, σαφῶς, manifestly, εὐαφα, plainly, χαριῶς, gracefully, σοφώτερον, more wisely, σοφάτα, most wisely, ἀσχετον, more basely, ἀσχετιστα, most basely. There are also many adverbs formed by the same analogy from obsolete adjectives; as, μάλα, very much, μάλλον, more, rather, μέλιστα, chiefly, most of all, τὰ μέλιστα, most particularly, ἐσθήρα, excessively, forcibly, λάθρα, secretly, τάχα, quickly, but perhaps the last is a contraction for τάχα.

-φι, before a consonant, -φω before a vowel; words having this termination are not properly adverbs, for as far as we know it has no meaning whatever, being merely a poetic addition to different cases; it is therefore, arranged with lenth; except δέσποτος, second, ἕβδομος, seventh ὀκτῶς, eighth; and the two latter are found in their regular form in Homer; as, ἰβδέματος, Od. α', 81. ἰγδέματος, Od. α', 306. Hes. 'Εργ. 790. 29

-τός, is another termination of verbal adjectives, formed by the same rules as the last, and subject to the same exceptions in its formation; in signification it corresponds with -andus and -endus, the terminations of the Latin fut. par. pass.; as, ποιη-τός, faciendus, to be done, φιλη-τός, amandus, to be loved. The neut. -τόν, in Attic, more generally pl. -τά, corresponds to what is called the gerund; as, δρασ-τόν δοῦν, faciendum est, must be done, πο-τόν δοῦν, bendum est, must be drunk. The Latin gerund in -di is expressed in Greek by the genitive of the article and present of the infinitive; as, νοῦ ποσιῶν, faciendū; and the gerund in -do, by the dative of the article and present of the infinitive; as, ἐν τῷ λέγειν, dicendū; the gerund in -dum, of the accusative by the preposition εἰ or πρός, the accusative of the article, and the infinitive; as, πρός τὸ λέγειν, ad dicendum; and it is also expressed by the infinitive simply without the article; as, ὄλιγοι αἰσὶν ἀμύνειν, for εἰς or πρός τὸ ἀμύνειν, or ὅσῃ ἀμύνειν. 30

IV.—ADVERBS.

-ως. This is the most general form in which adverbs of quality appear, and it is said to be derived from the genitive plural of the corresponding adjective or participle, by changing ν into ς; as from, κακῶν, g. pl. of κακός, bad, comes, κακῶς, badly, from, ἰξί-ων, g. pl. of ἰξίς, sharp. comes ἰξί-ως, sharply; from ἰσχυρότερον, g. pl. of participle ἰσχυρότερος, comes ἰσχυρότε-ως, strongly; from λαληθέντων, g. pl. of participle λαληθώς, comes λαληθέν-ως, secretly. It may be generally translated by the English termination -ly added to the signification of the adjective or participle from which it is formed. In the Greek language nearly 8000 words are found with this termination. 1

-κις, denotes number, and is equivalent to our English word times; as, πολλ-κις, many times, ὄσῃ, how many times, ὄσῃ, how often, from ὄσος, how great; πεν-άκις, five times, from πέντε, five. The final letter of this termination is frequently omitted by the poets; as, πολλ-κις, πεν-άκις. 2

-θῶν more rarely -θῶν, and -θῶν, express comparison or distribution, and correspond with the Latin termination -atim; as, ἀγελ-θῶν, gregatim, in flocks, λι-θῶν, in troops, συσ-θῶν, in heaps, βου-θῶν, in clusters, κυν-θῶν, like a dog. It is derived from substantives and changes the terminations -α, -η, -ον, of the nom. or the gen. of third decl. into -θῶν. 3

-θεν, signifies manner or resemblance, and is derived from substantives or verbs; as, κρυπ-θεν, in a concealed manner, secretly; βά-θεν, in a going manner, gradually. When derived from substantives the termination is generally -θέν; as, σικω-θέν, σικω-θέν; ἀμβολ-θεν, ἀμβολ-

-θέν. In several instances the termination -τόν is used instead of -θέν; as, ἀμειν-τόν, according to excellence. 4

-ίδη, a class similar to preceding, and signifying kinds of games; as, δρακον-ίδη, as in the game of shells. 5

-ει, -ι, -τι, signifies manner; as, καμψήφ-ει, unanimously, πανόμη-ει or πανόμη-ι, with the whole population, ἀμαχη-τι, peaceably, δάκρυ-τι, tearlessly, ἀκου-τι, easily. This form was probably the dative used adverbially. 6

-ιστι, -ιστι, is generally applied to the peculiarity of a nation, and signifies after the manner of like; as, Ἑλλη-ιστι, after the manner of the Greeks, Ῥωμα-ιστι, after the manner of the Romans. It has, however, frequently no reference to a nation; as, ἀνδρ-ιστι, after the manner of men, τετραποδ-ιστι, like quadrupeds. 7

-ως, is the termination of the adverbs which are formed from prepositions, and which signify motion towards; as, ἄνω, upwards, ἔσω, inwards, ἔξω, outwards, ἔδω, downwards; ἔμπρο, forwards, from ἔμπρ, εἰς, ἔξ, κατά, πρό. The words ἄφνω, suddenly, and οὕτως, thus, have this termination, but they also occur with a final α before a vowel. 8

Adverbs of place have a threefold relation according as they refer to a state of rest in a place, motion to a place, or removal from a place, in answer to the questions: where? whither? whence? and each of these relations has a particular termination; as, 1st, where? -θε, -ω, -χοῦ, -χῶ, -οῦ, -η, -ου, -αι; 2nd, whither? -δε, -σε, -τε; 3rd, whence? -θεν. These are chiefly composed of the ancient or more modern genitives or datives of adjectives used adverbially; as,

- α, signifying in; as, ἀγρῶ-θι, in the country, ἄλλο-θι, in another place, elsewhere, οὐδαμῶ-θι, nowhere. Nouns with this termination sometimes stand as genitives; as, Ἰλιό-θι ἔργῳ, we may therefore suppose that this was an original form of the genitive, which in aftertimes was used adverbially. 9
- α, signifying at or in, and chiefly used in the names of cities; as, Ἀθήνῃ-σι, at or in Athens, Θήβῃ-σι, at Thebes, θύρῃ-σι, at the doors, without. This was originally the Ionic dative plural, but it was afterwards considered merely as an adverbial termination, and used in other dialects. 10
- αυ, signifying in; as, πανταχού, in every place, everywhere, ἄλλα-χού, elsewhere, ἐναυ-χού, in various places. This is evidently the genitive of an obsolete nominative. 11
- αυ, signifying in; as, πανταχῆ, everywhere, ἄλλα-χῆ, elsewhere, ἐναυ-χῆ, nowhere. This is the dative feminine of the above obsolete noun used adverbially. 12
- ου, signifying in; as, οὔ, where, ἀπὸ-οὔ, there, πρὸς-οὔ, where, ἐφ' οὔ, aloft, μηδαμ' οὔ, nowhere, ἔρη-οὔ, far off. These are all genitives. 13
- ου, signifying in; as, ἔνθι, there, κείνῃ, there, ἄλλῃ, in another place, μηδαμ' ἔνθι, nowhere. These are datives feminine. Instead of this form the Dorians and Eolians use -αι, which appears to have arisen from the old mode of writing the dative singular feminine; as, αἰν-αι, -αυ-αι, τει-αι. 14
- ου, signifying in or at; as, πανταχού, everywhere, οἰα-ου, at home. This is the dative according to the old mode of writing it, with the short vowel and the σ adscribed not subscribed. 15
- ου, signifying in or on; as, χαμῶ-αι, on the ground. This is the old dative of an obsolete noun. 16
- ου, signifies to a place, and corresponds with the English termination -ward. It is generally annexed to the accusative case without alteration; as, οἰκου-ου, homeward, πάλιν-ου, to the field, πόλεμον-ου, to the war, ἀγρῶν-ου, Ion. ἀγῶν-ου, to the assembly, εἰς-ου, to, or into the city, φέω-ου, into the light, to life. It is also added to a genitive, where ἴδιον is understood; as, Ἀΐδου-ου, to the house or habitation of Pluto. And it is sometimes used double by Homer, being added, not only to a noun, but also to a pronoun possessive accompanying it; as, ἐν-ου ἰδιον-ου, to his home. If σ precedes the -ου, as frequently happens when the noun is in the plural, instead of ου is used ι, as Ἀθήνῃ-σι, to Athens, Θήβῃ-σι, to Thebes, θύρῃ-σι, to the doors, without, instead of Ἀθήνας-ου, Θήβας-ου, θύρας-ου. In the Doric dialect -ου and -ου are used instead of -ου; as, οἰκα-ου, homeward, χαμῶ-ου, on the ground. Adverbs in -ου, which is another pronunciation of -ου, have ο or ω before the termination; as, ἐφ' οἰκα, upward, ἔρη-ου, to a distance, παν-ου, everywhere, ἐναυ-ου, to either side, ἐπί-ου, elsewhere; except, αἰ-ου, ἐπι-ου, there, thither. 17

-ου, signifies from a place; as, οὐρανῶ-ου, from heaven, Σαῦρα-ου, from Scyros, Μυσηνῶ-ου, from Mysene, Διό-ου, from Jupiter. In the Ionic dialect the poets omit the final letter, on account of the metre; as, ἑκτο-ου, from vi houit. This termination appears to have been originally a genitive form, as it is found after prepositions which govern that case; as, ἐξ ἁλά-ου, from the sea, ἐξ οὐρανῶ-ου, from heaven, instead of ἐξ ἁλος, ἐξ οὐρανό. 18

-ίω, -άτω, the comparative and superlative of adverbs in -ου; and prepositions which are compared in the sense of adverbs; as, ἔνω, upward, ἀνω-ίω, higher, farther up, ἀνω-άτω, highest, furthest, κάτω, downward, κατω-ίω, lower, κατω-άτω, lowest, ἀπὸ, far off, ἀπο-ίω, ἀπο-ίω, farther, ἀπενάτω, ἀπενάτω, farthest. This form is imitated by some other adverbs; as, ἔγγυς, near, ἔγγυ-ίω, nearer, ἔγγυ-άτω, nearest. 19

-ι, is annexed to several demonstrative adverbs, serving to impart more force to the meaning, and to point decidedly to the circumstance designated; as, οὖν, now, οὖν-ι, at this identical moment, ἔνθα, here, ἐνθα-ι, here at this very place, οὕτως, thus, οὕτως-ι, in this very manner, ἔτσιου, hence, ἐτσιου-ι, on this very account. In all instances where -ι is added, it is invariably long and accented, and shortens the preceding vowel or diphthong. 20

The neuter gender of all classes of adjectives, both in the singular and plural, and in all degrees of comparison, with or without the article, is very frequently used adverbially; as, ἔξυ, quickly, ἀδόκητον, unexpectedly, πρῶτον, in the first place, principally, ἄνω, very near, πολλὰ, much, τὸ πολὺ, very much, for the most part, σαφῆ, manifestly, εἰσαφα, plainly, χαρῶν, gracefully, σοφώτερον, more wisely, σοφώτατα, most wisely, ἀσχεῖα, more basely, ἀσχεῖα, most basely. There are also many adverbs formed by the same analogy from obsolete adjectives; as, μάλᾳ, very much, μάλλον, more, rather, μάλιστα, chiefly, most of all, τὰ μάλιστα, most particularly, σφόδρα, excessively, φοβῶς, forcibly, λαθρα, secretly, τάχα, quickly, but perhaps the last is a contraction for τάχα.

-φ, before a consonant, -φ, before a vowel; words having this termination are not properly adverbs, for as far as we know it has no meaning whatever, being merely a poetic addition to different cases; it is therefore, arranged with the other unusual and ancient adverbialised forms of cases of nouns, of which it was probably itself originally one. It is annexed to various cases of nouns both singular and plural; as, SING. nom. ἀρίστου φη for ἀρίστη, Hes. 'Eggy. 214.—gen. ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Il. σ', 590, ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Il. σ', 101, Ἰαίον φη for Ἰαίον, Il. φ', 295, κρηθῶν φη for κρηθῶν, Il. λ', 374.—dat.

ἀγέλης φη for ἀγέλη, Il. β', 480, βίης φη for βίη Il. σ', 614, ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Il. μ', 302.—acc. ἔστη φη for ἔστη, Hes. 'Eggy. 408. PLUR. gen. ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Od μ', 45.—dat. ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Il. ρ', 477, ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν and ἀδελφῶν, Il. ρ', 42, καὶ φη for καὶ οὖν, Il. θ', 474, ἔχου φη for ἔχου, Il. δ', 297.—acc. ἀδελφῶν φη for ἀδελφῶν, Od. κ', 145. 21

V.—PRONOUNS.

The pronouns are few in number, and cannot consequently be arranged into many separate classes of terminations. The greater number of them follow the same rules as other nouns and adjectives already given, and are to be sought for either as classed with them or in the Lexicon. There is, however, one class deserving of notice in

1, which is annexed by the Attics to all cases and genders of the demonstrative pronouns. It always serves to impart more force to the meaning, and to point decidedly to the person designated; as, ἀέρος, this person, ἀέρος-1, this identical person here present. So also ἔτε is changed into ἐτέ-1, τοῦτοῦ into τοῦτοῦ-1, ταῦτα into ταῦτα-1. Instead of -1, -γ and -δι are annexed to the cases which end in a short vowel, for the same purpose; as ταῦτα-γ, τοῦτο-δι. Perhaps, however, -γ and -δι are compounded of γε and δε with -1. For the same reasons the Latins annexed -met, -te, -pte, -ce; as, ego-met, tu-te, mea-pte, hic-ce. Wherever this Attic termination is added, it is invariably long, and shortens the preceding vowel or diphthong; as, ταῦτα-1, τοῦτο-1.

The words -a, i, u, denote that the adjective has its genitive in -a, is of two terminations, and has the neuter in -on.

The words -es, is, us, denote that the adjective has its genitive in -es, is of two terminations, and has the neuter in -is. When the adjective has three terminations they are all given.

The marks [] enclose the theme or root of the word or words immediately preceding them; and when the note of interrogation ? is placed after a theme, it denotes that the derivation appears merely probable, and is consequently not to be entirely depended upon.

In Part II, the inflections are not always put directly in column; but cases of nouns and tenses, &c., of verbs, that resemble each other, are frequently arranged together in the same paragraph. Such words, however, are always separated by a —, and each begins with a capital letter.

GREEK AND ENGLISH LEXICON.

PART I.

GREEK AND ENGLISH.

A, α, alpha, the first letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers α signifies one, and ρ 1000. In composition it is 1, privative, having nearly the same meaning as ἀνα, without, and corresponding with un-, in-, less, in English: as πόνος, toil, ἀπώρος, without toil. In composition a sometimes becomes α before a vowel; as αἰδή, speech, ἀνααῖος, speechless.

2, intensive, having nearly the same meaning as ἔναυ, very: e. g. ἔξλον, wood, ἔξλος, very woody 3, collective, having nearly the same meaning as ἕνα, together; e. g. ἰελφύς, the womb, ἀδελφός, one of the same womb, a brother.

4, euphonic, without affecting the meaning; e. g. ἐνάχης or ἐναχης, an ear of corn.

A, Dor. for α, as τράφος for τρίφος; for η, as ἔλιος for ἔλιος. for α, as βοῶσι for βοῶσι.

Z

Z, ζ, ζε, zeta, the sixth letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers ζ' signifies seven, and ζ, 7000, because the number 6 is represented by ς', and 6000 by ςϰ. It is considered as a double letter, compounded of ζε or ζθ, into the latter of which it is frequently resolved in the Doric and Æolic dialects, as ζεσω for ζωω, μάλισθω for μάλισθω. Instead of it the Æolians and Lacedæmonians often used ζθ, as μάλισθω for μάλισθω. In derivatives ζ is frequently substituted for ζ, as ζεω from ζωω: this change is also sometimes observed in the Æolic dialect, as Διζέω for Ζεύς. In prosody, being a compound letter, it lengthens the preceding syllable, except in a few rare instances. Ζά, ζῆ, etc. abundance) inseparable particle which augments the signification of words, greatly, much, very.

Θ, ϑ, θ, theta, the eighth letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers ϑ signifies nine, and θ, 9000. Θ and σ are interchanged with one another, instead of θ when followed by a vowel, the Dorians and Lucedemonians used σ; as, εἰός for εἶος, μουσίδων for μουσίδων. The Ionians also frequently used σ for θ; as, βουσίος for βουθός. Θ and φ are interchanged; as, ἔθλο φθρ for εθρ, Att. φλῆρ for φλῆρ, ἐρμιχος for ἐρμιθος. In ἔθλο, some words have θ instead of θ, as ἐθρον for ἐθρον. As θ was the first letter of θάνατος, it was the mark used in noting a vote for sentence of death.

Θα, inseparable particle added at the end of adverbs, as ἰθά; and to the 2. sin. ind. sub. op. of verbs in -μι, in Ion. and Δῖolic dialects; as, ἀθέλησθα, εἰσθα.

I, ι, iota, the ninth letter of the Greek alphabet.
 In numbers ι signifies ten, and ι, 10,000. It is sometimes by the poets added or inserted in words to lengthen the syllable, as καπεῖ for καπῖ, εἰπῖος for εἰπος. In the Attic dialect it is appended to many words, especially demonstrative pronouns and adverbs, pointing out more forcibly and decidedly the person or circumstance designated, as ὄστος, this person, ὄστω, this identical person here, νῦν, now, νῦν, at this very moment. When ι is thus used it is always long, and shortens the preceding vowel or dipthong.

Κοττάβιζμα, f. -ίσιον, [κοττάβος] I play at κοττάβος. Κοττάβιστος, -ιστος, ή, [next] playing at κοττάβος. Κοττάβος, -ος, ή, game practised at entertainments at Athens, of which there were several varieties. One consisted in flinging the remains of a cup of wine into vessels placed at some distance on the floor without spilling any. The sound produced was, by onomatopoeia, called λαταξ and λαταγγ. This was generally done pronouncing the name of a mistress, and the sound produced was supposed to intimate the state of her affections. Another form of it was as follows: a piece of wood being erected, another was placed upon the top of it, with two dishes suspended from each extremity like a pair of scales; beneath each dish was a vessel full of water, in which stood a statue, chiefly composed of brass, called μάχη. The players stood at some distance holding a cup full of water or wine, which they endeavoured to throw into one of the dishes, that by that weight it might be knocked against the head of the statue under it. He who threw so as to spill least water and knock the dish with the greatest force on the statue was conqueror, and supposed to reign in the affections of his mistress. The action and cup out of which the wine was cast was called ἀγέλο, because they turned round their right hand with great dexterity; hence κοττάβος ἀγέλοισι. This mode of the game, to distinguish it from others of the same name, was termed κοττάβος καταικτίς. There were several other kinds of this game, for which see Robinson's Arch. Graec.

 Μέν, conj. [most probably the neut. of the old form of εἶς, μία, ἕν, which was μέις, μία, μέν.] Its primary signification was consequently one, firstly, in the first place, and to this all the meanings generally attached to it are resolvable. It is generally followed, in another clause of the sentence, by ὅς, which being derived from ὅω, I bind or connect, may be translated, according to the number of times it is repeated, by, secondly, thirdly, &c., i. e. connect this with what has been already expressed, μέν, in the first place. Μέν, however, may be loosely translated, for my part, at least, indeed, truly. Wherever μέν is found ὅς succeeds it, either expressed or understood. In Herodotus, 1. 121, we have an excellent example of the connection which subsists between these two particles; καὶ τὸν μὲν καλοῦσι ἔρος, τοῦτον μὲν προσκυνεῖσι τὰ καὶ εἰς κοῦσι· τὸν δὲ χειμῶνα καλοῦμενον, τὰ ἔμπαινον τὸν ἐρῶσι. The one they call summer, this indeed they worship and respectfully treat; but the other is called winter, and this they treat differently. Here μέν in the first clause is opposed to ὅς in the third clause, and μέν in the second clause is opposed to ὅς in the last clause, though not expressed. Ὁ μὲν - δὲ δὲ, the one - the other.

N

N, ν, nu, the thirteenth letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers ν signifies fifty, and ν, 0,000. In compound words ν is changed into γ before α, γ, ζ, αα, ἔγκαρος, ἔγγονος, ἔγχλωμος, from ἐν, εαρός, γένος, χάρος. It is also changed into μ before π, β, φ, αα, ἐμπάτω, ἐμβάτω, ἐμφύω, from ἐν, πίτω, βάτω, φύω. It is changed into λ, μ, ρ, σ, when the next word of the compound begins with these letters; as, ἀλλείνω, ἐμμίω, ἐβρύθμιος, ἐσάσιτος, from ἐν, λείνω, μίω, βρύθμιος, ασι σόν, σιτος. It is frequently added to words ending in α, α, υ, when the next word begins with a vowel, to avoid the hiatus.

P

P, ρ, rho, the seventeenth letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers ρ signifies 100, and ρρ, 100,000. In the Attic dialect it is often used for λ; as, σιγῆρος, κρίβανος, for σιγῆλος, κρίβανος; in the same dialect ρ occurs instead of δ, as, ἱερακόλος for δειδάλλος. The poets, frequently, instead of a single ρ, use two, especially in words compounded with a preposition; as, ἐπιρῶν, ἐπιρῶντων, instead of ἐπιρῶ, ἐπιρῶτων. At the beginning of a word it frequently lengthens the preceding short vowel.

Φ

Φ, φ, phi, the twenty-first letter of the Greek alphabet. In numbers, φ signifies 500, and φ, 500,000. Φ is changed into β by the Sicilians and Macedonians; as βω for φά, κίβω for κίφος, κελβή for κελφή; into τ; as, βολ βω for βωφ, βωφίω for βωφίω. The Eolians use it at the beginning of words for β; as φήρες for βήρες, φλῆρ for βλῆν, φλίβαν for βλίβαν. The ancient poets considered φ as a double consonant, and accordingly sometimes lengthened the preceding short vowel.

Ἐτεοκλῆς, -ῆος, ὁ, Eteocles, one of the two sons of Oedipus. After his father's death it was agreed between him and his brother Polyneices, that they should both share the royalty, and reign alternately each a year. After the first year of his reign was expired, Eteocles refused to give up the crown to his brother, who implored and obtained the assistance of Adrasus king of Argos. After much blood had been shed, the brothers agreed to end the war by single combat, in which they both fell. Sophocles Q. C., 1296, makes Eteocles the younger. But it is more probable that he was the elder, as Euripides represents him, Phoen. 69; else there seems no sufficient reason, why he should have held the kingdom before his brother Polyneices. Also, the son of Cephisus, who is said to have been the first who sacrificed to the Graces. Hence, 'Ἐτεοκλής, -α, -ος, of Eteocles.

Ἐτεοκλής, -α, δ, Eteoclus, one of the seven commanders against Thebes. The seven commanders posted against the seven gates of Thebes, in the war between Eteocles and Polyneices, were, Hippomedon, Parthenopæus, Polyneices, Tydeus, Eteoclus, Amphiaræus, and Capaneus. Adrastus is one of the seven pointed out by the Ἡλιόπαιγος to Antigone on the walls of Thebes, as engaged in the war, and the name of Eteoclus is omitted. But Euripides, in the Suppliees, gives the names of the commanders as stated above, and agreeing with Sept. Theb. We may therefore conclude, that Adrastus entrusted his share in the command to his subject Eteoclus.
